

Advertising Account Executive

Telegraph Publishing LLC is looking for a highly motivated, energetic person who has excellent verbal/written communications and interpersonal skills to help us take our successful online news operation to the next level.

This is a client-facing position that involves liaison with current and past advertisers and development of mutually beneficial new business relationships arrived at by recognizing the goals of potential clients and finding ways that Telegraph Publishing can help them meet those goals.

Sales and graphic design experience is preferred. This is a part-time, freelance position.

Compensation will be a combination of a base plus a generous commission.

Send a resume and cover letter to info@chestertelegraph.org.